

METADATA

Title: Movements and Trends in 19th- and 20th-century English Literature

Other Titles: -

Language: English

ISBN: 978-960-603-171-7

Subject: HUMANITIES AND ARTS

Keywords: British Literature / 19th-21st Century / The Woman Question / Industrialization / Fin-de-siecle Art

...

Bibliographic Reference: Kitsi, A., Kanarakis, I., & Yiannopoulou, E. (2015). Movements and Trends in 19th- and 20th-century English Literature [Undergraduate textbook]. Kallipos, Open Academic Editions. <http://dx.doi.org/10.57713/kallipos-951>

Abstract

This textbook is designed for all English literature students as a main resource for their classes on Victorian, Gothic, Realistic, Modernist and Postmodernist literature. It discusses movements and trends in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, but it is by no means exhaustive. Each chapter focuses on a major literary movement or historical period, providing necessary contextual information and examining texts as products of a certain historical time. The book is supplemented with a large array of illustrations, extensive references to primary and secondary material, analysis of key texts, textboxes with definitions of terms and links to electronic sources that aim at enhancing crucial background material.

